CHAPTER 1

CRS

A. BACKGROUND

1. In accordance with DoD 5000.58-R (reference (a)), the purpose of the CRS is to promote the availability of well-qualified candidates for critical acquisition positions without regard to the geographic location of the positions or of the applicants for those positions. The CRS shall be the primary means by which functional, organizational, and geographical mobility of members of the Defense Acquisition Corps is promoted and effected. The CRS shall function as the official source of information on critical acquisition position vacancies in all of the DoD Components outside the Military Departments. The CRS is intended to be an interim system, until the Defense Civilian Personnel Service, under the Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civilian Personnel Policy, has fielded an automated external and internal placement system that will provide a menu of staffing services as part of an integrated DoD personnel data system.

2. The CRS is a voluntary system for DoD civilian and military personnel and all Federal employees meant to ensure that all members of the Defense Acquisition Corps as well as non-Defense Acquisition Corps personnel have access to and knowledge of recruitment opportunities for critical acquisition positions. Nothing in this Guide shall obviate the requirement to fill critical acquisition positions, in accordance with applicable statutes, the Office of Personnel Management regulations, and conforming component directives.

B. CRS OPERATION

The CRS service provider provides copies of critical acquisition position vacancy announcements to persons registered to receive them. Civilian Personnel Offices (CPOs) responsible for the recruitment of critical acquisition positions send vacancy announcements to the CRS service provider who, in turn, mails copies of the vacancy announcements to persons registered. Registrants receive vacancy announcements that match the grade level(s), career field(s), occupational series group(s), and geographical preference(s) for which registered. The CRS service provider is the Integrated Procurement Systems Office; Tobyhanna, PA.

C. RESPONSIBILITIES

1. The Heads of DoD Components Outside of the Military Departments shall:

- a. Ensure that their servicing CPOs, which recruit for critical acquisition positions, adhere to the critical acquisition position recruitment policies and procedures in DoD 5000.58-R Chapter 8, sections A. and G. (reference (a)) and this Guide.

b. Ensure that CRS registration information is provided to every member of the Defense Acquisition Corps in the Component and is made available to other interested DoD civilian and military persons through the servicing CPOs for the Component.

2. The CPOs shall ensure that:

a. Critical acquisition position vacancies are advertised for a minimum open period of 30 calendar days.

b. The minimum area of consideration for all critical acquisition positions shall be the members of the Defense Acquisition Corps.

c. The CRS service provider is provided with a copy of each critical acquisition position vacancy announcement.

d. Each critical acquisition position vacancy announcement exactly identifies the applicable career field and/or position category in which the position is placed.

e. Vacancy announcements are prepared and provided to the CRS service provider in clear, legible print quality on no more than five single sheets of paper, 8-1/2 inches x 11 inches, printed on both sides.

f. Each vacancy announcement opening on and after October 1, 1993, is provided to the CRS service provider not later than the opening date of the announcement.

g. Critical acquisition position vacancy announcements are forwarded to the following address.

CRS Service Provider
11 Hap Arnold Boulevard
Tobyhanna, PA 18466-5042
Telefax: Commercial (717) 895-8014 and/or DSN 795-8014

h. Position candidate information is provided to the CRS service provider as requested by the Director, Acquisition Career Management (DACM).

i. CPOs shall follow the same procedures specified in paragraphs C.2.e. through C.2.g. above, for vacancy announcement amendments or cancellations.

3. The CRS Service Provider shall:

a. Ensure that complete and legible critical acquisition position vacancy announcements are distributed according to registrants' data submission, normally within 3 calendar days of receipt.

b. Ensure that any announcement amendment(s) and/or cancellation(s) are distributed to registrants.

c. Ensure that the applicable data elements for registrants, career fields, and occupational series groups are updated as required according to applicable Acquisition Career Management Program policies, CRS procedures, and vacancy announcements received.

d. Inform the DACM of all CRS system changes, design modifications, or acquisition workforce data updates.

e. Provide specific detailed reports as specified and required by the DACM.

4. The CRS Registrants Seeking Consideration for Critical Acquisition Positions in the DoD Components Outside of the Military Departments shall:

a. Register in accordance with the instructions specified in Chapter 2, subsection C.2., below, of this Guide.

b. Forward DD Form 2732, (Figure 1-1, below) directly to the CRS service provider.

c. Apply for critical acquisition positions, in accordance with the requirements specified in each vacancy announcement.

D. PROGRAM EVALUATION

Overall CRS program management is the responsibility of the DACM. Program evaluation shall include DACM visits to servicing CPOs responsible for the recruitment and staffing of critical acquisition positions. The purpose of those visits shall be to review civilian personnel data system entries, to conduct visual inspections of critical acquisition position assignment transactions, and to conduct interviews with personnel specialists and acquisition managers on CRS effectiveness.

E. SYSTEM CHANGES

The proponent for the CRS is the DACM in the office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Technology. Users of the CRS are invited to send written comments and/or
